

Violinplayer

You are in the light, and in the abundance of your soul seems to live a kind of contagious bliss.

Your music is full of clarity, lightness, with gentle seriousness:

The sound of your eyes,
of your voice,
of your playing body to the gentle dance of your bow is like a light-flooded shadow.

In your abundance seems to live a kind of contagious, delightfull bliss - light of your soul in the cold hardness and darkness of our world.

(ded. to Davina Clark)